

LUMINANCE CORRECTION

ABSTRACT

Techniques are disclosed to improve quality of images that may be blurred or underexposed. In one described implementation, a method includes providing two images of a same scene. The method determines a spatial coherence and color statistics of the two images. The determined color statistics and spatial coherence are utilized to enhance one of the two images.